The three competence levels provide an understanding of the educational level of each program, as well as each product within the ANFP Marketplace. Competence levels move from basic knowledge to advanced knowledge (see explanations of each competence level below). Each program should have a designated competence level listed within the description.

LEVEL I - REMEMBER/UNDERSTAND - BLOOM'S TAXONOMY CONCEPTS*

Understanding and Remembering of Concepts/Knowledge
 Suggest Level I Courses and basic resources
 The desired outcome is to ensure a basic understanding and explanation of concepts of the subject matter and recalling of related facts.

LEVEL II - APPLY/ANALYZE - BLOOM'S TAXONOMY CONCEPTS*

Application and Analysis of Concepts/Knowledge
 Suggest Level II course and basic to advanced resources
 The desired outcome is to facilitate application of knowledge into practice by drawing connections among ideas and using information in new situations.

LEVEL III - EVALUATE/CREATE - BLOOM'S TAXONOMY CONCEPTS

Evaluation and Creation of concepts/knowledge
 Suggest Level III courses and advanced resources
 The desired outcome is to evaluate application and create continuous quality improvement into best practice.

*Bloom's Taxonomy is a hierarchical model used to classify learning objectives into levels of complexity and specificity. For more information about the model, refer to: <https://cfl.vanderbilt.edu/courses/sub-pages/blooms-taxonomy/>

Continuing Competence levels are being used to help credential holders identify how specific programs may meet their learning needs.
